1. PRESENTACIÓN / COURSE DESCRIPTION

The objective of internships is to provide students with a closer look at the job market in the different professional fields for which they have received their academic training. Through internships, students have the opportunity to gain career skills in companies and institutions related to cultural mediation and translation, linguistic and literary planning and research, management and consulting in media outlets, international relations, tourism, cultural management and publishing. In short, internships within the Modern Languages and Translation Degree are aimed at creating space for students to occupy positions implying a sound knowledge of foreign languages and cultures in both private and public companies and in the administration.

This experience will help students make better decisions with regard to their professional future, provide them with some work experience and open opportunities for them in the job market. Students should check published regulations (see the Department's website) to know about precise procedures in the allocation of the different internships.

Requirements

Students are expected to have a high level of Spanish and English, French or German (C1.2 European Framework for Languages), depending on their language choice in addition to the recommendations made by each company or institution which are detailed in the specific internship offering.

2. COMPETENCIAS / OBJECTIVES

Competencias genéricas / Generic Competences:

Competencias específicas / Specific competences:

See the specific profile of each type of internship.

3. CONTENIDOS / COURSE CONTENTS

See the Annex for the different internship offerings and their specific contents.

4. METODOLOGÍAS DE ENSEÑANZA-APRENDIZAJE.- ACTIVIDADES FORMATIVAS / METHODOLOGY AND CLASS ACTIVITIES

Students will have a preparatory session with their tutor and advisors from the Department of Student Orientation. This session will help them prepare their CV and interviews. Each internship will have particular characteristics. Nevertheless, the methodology will be based on a practical, hands-on approach to professional development. Students need to be willing to accommodate the work requirements of the accepting agency and will perform tasks assigned to them by their Internship coordinator, according to the profile previously agreed upon. These tasks will provide students with insights into the specific work environment and help students acquire career skills. Students will request the internship which interests them, although it will be subject to availability and cannot be guaranteed. They should submit a statement of motivation, written in English, for that particular placement as well as any other requirements stipulated in the specific offering. They should also be able to demonstrate their adequate level of English, French or German (C1.2) and Spanish. These documents should be submitted to the academic tutor for internships. Students will be allocated to the requested placement according to availability. The criteria for allocations will be based on their academic certification and cumulative point average, statement of motivation, level of English/French or German and Spanish and their adequacy depending on the specific characteristics of the placement. If students are not assigned their first option, they will be eligible for another, if available.

4.1. DISTRIBUCIÓN EN CRÉDITOS (especificar en horas) / STUDENT WORKLOAD

Number of contact hours	These will depend on the accepting institution and the characteristics of the tasks. Overall, internships will be around 350 hours, but in some cases they may involve more depending on the characteristics of the specific internship (particularly if there are any economical benefits). Nevertheless, students will have a minimum of 2 seminars with their academic tutor / supervisor and / or the department of student orientation and 2 with their internship supervisor.
Autonomous student work	These hours will also depend on the specific internship, but student will have at least 30 hours for preparing and writing the final report.
Total hours	400

5. EVALUACIÓN / ASSESMENT: Procedimientos, criterios de evaluación y de calificación

Assessment procedure

In accordance with the University regulation on evaluation<sup>i</sup>, those students who have not passed the internship program in June will have the right to be assessed again in September.

Assessment criteria
