1.a. PRESENTACIÓN

Fundamentos de la traducción is an advanced theory of translation course. It is the continuation from Introducción a la traducción and students are expected to have basic knowledge of translation theories and strategies, techniques and modes of translation which will have been acquired in that class.

Students will be provided with relevant theoretical resources that they shall apply to different practical, hands-on tasks. They are expected to be able to translate adequately from and into Spanish and English.

1.b. PRESENTATION

The main objective of this course is for students to acquire the theoretical and practical aspects of translation in order to help them understand the different translation theories and models that affect the final product (the translation) and to apply them to the process of transferring from one language to another.

By the end of the course students will understand the fact that translation is much more than just changing words from one language to another and that we face an activity that involves a complex process on which we must reflect and that is based on previous experience requiring the mastery of a number of strategies, techniques and modes of translation that need to be learned. Students will be provided with relevant theoretical resources that will be applied to different tasks and move on to the practice of direct translation of a wide range of texts. It is also necessary that students are aware that the act of translation is a constant decision-making with many possibilities.

Prerequisites and recommendations

Students are expected to have a B2.2 level of English and Spanish (Common European Framework) when they start the course (which means that students are expected to be able to follow explanations, take notes, and ask questions, as well as provide the answers for the activities in both languages). Students in their 3rd year, for their part, will be expected to be well on their way to achieving an advanced level of English (C1) in all four communicative skills and this will be taken into account in their final mark.

It is highly recommended that students have passed the subject Introducción a la traducción in which they will have studied the basic principles of translation theories and methods.

NOTE: Erasmus students must certify their level of English and Spanish (B2) at the beginning of the course.

2. COMPETENCIAS / COMPETENCES

Generic competences:

1. To develop student's autonomy as learners
2. To improve student's abilities to communicate and work in groups
3. To develop and articulate independent and critical thinking based on supporting evidence
4. To use bibliographic and specialized sources efficiently and correctly
5. To demonstrate the ability to understand and express oneself, correctly and clearly, in C1 level of the European Framework for Languages as well as to be able to translate from English into Spanish

6. To develop the capacities for self-assessment, self-improvement and team work

Specific competences:

1. To understand the evolution of the theory and practice of translation and the importance of the act of translation in relation to the various theoretical aspects involved.
2. To distinguish the main theories and trends in the history of translation.
3. To describe and explain the concepts, methods, procedures and basic techniques of translation as a discipline.
4. To critically analyze the process of translating theory and practice.
5. To translate texts with different purposes and according to different models.

3. CONTENIDOS / CONTENT

4. METODOLOGÍAS DE ENSEÑANZA-APRENDIZAJE.- ACTIVIDADES FORMATIVAS / METHODOLOGY

4.1. Distribución de créditos (especificar en horas)

Face to face sessions	15 hours = lectures [whole group sessions] 15 hours = seminars [reduced group sessions] 3-hour workshops in groups [activities] 2 hours = special seminars.
Autonomous student work	115 hours (preparation of activities and tasks, readings and study time)

Total hours	150

4.2. Estrategias metodológicas, materiales y recursos didácticos / Learning activities, materials and resources

Whole group sessions (theory) 1 hour/week	- Introduction of concepts, discussion and analysis of readings.
Reduced group sessions (practical) 2 hours/week	- Discussion of readings. - Translation activities. - Reading, analysis and / or synthesis of the proposed texts. - Translation of proposed texts.
Workshops/Tutorials	- Preparation and discussion of a translation project (selected texts).
Autonomous work	Readings, written activities, preparation of activities and project, consultation of sources and databases (both paper and electronic), and preparation for exams.

5. EVALUACIÓN / ASSESSMENT: Procedimientos, criterios de evaluación y de calificación

All students will be graded following a process of continuous assessment. Different aspects of the course will be evaluated separately throughout the semester in order to obtain an overall continuous and formative final mark for the course mark. This means that all the students will have to participate actively and effectively in classes as well as in all the online and group activities. A minimum of 80% attendance is compulsory.

Exceptionally, those students who have been recognized as eligible for final evaluation in accordance with the terms in article 10 of the “NORMATIVA REGULADORA DE LOS PROCESOS DE EVALUACIÓN DE LOS APRENDIZAJES” (passed on 24-03-2011) may sit for a final exam that will include questions on all the topics covered in the class and translation activities.

Students who fail either the continuous evaluation or the final exam will have to sit for an extraordinary exam which will include questions on all the topics covered in the syllabus as well as practical translation activities.

Plagiarism will not be tolerated. Those students who commit plagiarism in any of the activities will receive a FAIL mark in the corresponding activity.

Assessment criteria

Students should have acquired the desirable competence/skills indicated in this syllabus in each of the competences specified in the assessment criteria below. Thus, by the end of the course, students are expected to be able to:

- Demonstrate they have acquired the necessary concepts regarding translation studies and the evolution of its different theories.
- Apply the different models to hands-on activities and translations.
- Describe and explain the concepts, methods, procedures and basic techniques of translation as a discipline.
- Critically analyze the process of translating theory and practice.

Taking all this into consideration, students will be graded as follows:

Grading criteria

SOBRESALIENTE (A):

- Student fully understands the necessary concepts regarding translation studies and the evolution of its different theories
- Student does not have significant errors of decoding / encoding and he / she has a very good use of English (C1)
- Student can apply the different models to hands-on activities and translations efficiently and appropriately
- Student can describe and explain clearly and precisely the concepts, methods, procedures and basic techniques of translation as a discipline
- Student shows the ability to critically analyze the process of translating theory and practice in a clear way, demonstrating independent ideas and opinions

NOTABLE (B)

- Student understands well the necessary concepts regarding translation studies and the evolution of its different theories
- Student has up to one important error and has a good use of English
- Student can apply the different models to hands-on activities and translations efficiently and appropriately enough but may have a few linguistic or format errors
- Student can describe and explain well the concepts, methods, procedures and basic techniques of translation as a discipline
- Student shows the ability to critically analyze the process of translating theory and practice, demonstrating independent ideas and opinions

APROBADO (C- Pass)

- Student has some important errors in understanding and putting into practice the necessary concepts regarding translation studies and the evolution of its different theories
- Student has encoding problems (choice of vocabulary, idioms and register) and / or significant grammatical errors
- Student can apply the different models to hands-on activities and translations in a basic and general manner
- Student can describe and explain the concepts, methods, procedures and basic techniques of translation as a discipline in a general way
- Student shows the ability to critically analyze the process of translating theory and practice but in a very general way and has few critical opinions

SUSPENSO (F- Fail)

- Student has severe problems and shows inaccuracies in understanding and putting into practice the necessary concepts regarding translation studies and the evolution of its different theories
- Student shows persistent serious grammatical inaccuracy and inappropriate choices of vocabulary, idiom and register
- Student cannot apply the different models to hands-on activities and translations acceptably
- Student cannot describe and explain the concepts, methods, procedures and basic techniques of translation as a discipline
- Student is not able to critically analyze the process of translating theory and practice

Assessment procedures

Assessment will be based on the following:	Percentage	Criteria
- Acquisition of theoretical concepts	40%	- There will be a final exam with questions about the theoretical aspects studied in class. Students must prove their understanding and knowledge of the subject using the appropriate language.
- Translation skills	40%	- They must submit different translation activities throughout the course. In doing so, they must prove that they can translate fluently using appropriate language. Language mistakes in Spanish and English will be penalised. - Students must be able to identify translation difficulties, solve them using the appropriate tools and documentation. Assessment will be based on the translation process, the final product, and the students' ability to make effective corrections throughout the course in their translation tasks (40%) and final translation Project (20%) which will be explained in class.
Class Participation	20%	- Students are expected to participate actively (attendance as well as participation in tasks, activities, discussions, etc.). This includes any complementary seminar organized or recommended by the lecturer.

Those students who do not pass the continuous assessment activities and requirements or the final evaluation will have the opportunity to sit for an extraordinary exam which will cover all the subject contents.
